Julius H. Brown.
We have secured the services of JULIUS H. BROWN as news and commercial editor of this paper. He is a highly accomplished newspaper man, of extensive acquaintance and experience in this city, and we know that our readers will realize advantages from his connection with the PRESS family.

The Trial of Brown and Associates.
Further interesting proceedings had on the trial of the Virginia Insurrectionists, up to Saturday evening, will be found on the first page.

The State Board of Equalization.
It is supposed that Dr. VATTIER, on entering to-morrow on the duties of Postmaster, will resign the office of member of the State Board of Equalization, in which case it will become the duty of Governor CHASE to fill the vacancy.

"Wise" Clemency.
In a few days the sentence of death will be pronounced against OSAWATOMIE BROWN. If the Governor of Virginia wants to improve a grand opportunity to do a generous thing to one whom he calls a "game" man, let him send a pardon. That would be a wise clemency.

The San Juan Difficulty.
The telegraph from Washington says that gentlemen, who have arrived from the Pacific coast, say that the visit of Lieutenant-General SCOTT to San Juan will surprise the people there, as only in the Atlantic States has the island been magnified to the importance of a continent. It is thought the San Juan trouble will soon be settled, and without any difficulty.

Heroes of the Day.
Osaawatomie Brown, Old Man BAILEY, of Newport, and the young Kentuckian who was covered with a coat of yellow paint. The suit was presented by the daughter of BAILEY, when the last-named adventurous hero was attacking the Free South printing office. Who is he?

On the Street—Advertise in the Penny Press.
We advise our business men and advertisers generally to come down. "Our ANDY" of the PENNY PRESS has risen from the desk, and committed the exchanges to JUNIUS, and will present himself to merchants and manufacturers for their business patronage to this penny daily. Our circulation justifies the most liberal patronage, and we are confident in getting it.

The Horticultural Society Monument Project.
It is proposed to have grounds specially designated at Spring Grove for Monumental Memorials of deceased members of the Cincinnati Horticultural Society. Storied urns nor animated busts can honor these noble men and women more than the lovely flowers, shrubs and trees which they raise up to bless and honor them. Let sculptors do their best to honor the lamented SAYS.

Luther and Protest—Yesterday an Anniversary.
The analysis of religious movements in Germany presents them strongly in the antagonistic relations of infidelity and faith—of individualism and the Church. The German Protestants of our City, yesterday, in the spirit of the faith, were enthusiastic in ceremonial remembrance of the Reformer who learned them word "Protest."

It was on the eve of "All Saints Day," the 31st of October, in the year 1517, MARTIN LUTHER affixed to the door of the Church in Wittenberg, ninety-five propositions—embodying his protest. The controversy with the mother Church, thus commenced, was without settled purpose or inclination upon the part of Luther to interfere with or change the established rites of the Church. But the intemperate zeal and violence of TERZEL, and the persecuting spirit of a number of emissaries of Rome, built up an organized opposition, TERZEL and the Dominicans committed the writings of Luther to the flames, and publicly declared that "the heretic ought to be burned alive." The friends of Luther burned the answer to the Reformer's thesis, and from a question as to indulgences, a fierce assault was made involving the authority of the Pope and the safety of the Church. The unwisdom of Luther, Prior of the Dominicans, Apostolic Commissioner, and Inquisitor of the Catholic Church, who made merchandise of indulgences, no doubt, precipitated the Reformation of the sixteenth century. Having been forbidden by the Princes of Saxony to enter their dominions, he opened, as history relates, his market on the confines of the territory of the Archbishop of Magdeburg, within four miles of Wittenberg, in the year 1517. LUTHER, the subsequent Reformer, then occupied the confessional chair, as a Catholic priest, and, as a father confessor, granted absolution to penitents.

The conduct of TERZEL, no doubt, an Osaawatomie Brown in his profession, excited a general indignation, and Luther, with earnestness, declared that there could be no reliance for forgiveness on the indulgences which the patrons of TERZEL had purchased, without repentance and amendment of life. The history of the times further instructs us that LUTHER solemnly warned his hearers of the danger of the delusion and rejected the letters of indulgence, and that TERZEL, when informed thereof, was thrown into a paroxysm of rage; pronounced against LUTHER the most threatening denunciations; and kindling a fire in the great square of Interboch, publicly declared his authority from the Pope to commit all heretics to the flames. On the following day LUTHER preached the necessity of repentance; the inability of the sinner to satisfy God's justice; and pardon, as proceeding from unmerited and free grace of God through Christ alone. "If some cry that I am a heretic," he concluded—"for the truth which I speak is prejudicial to their coffers—I pay little regard to their clamors. They are men of gloomy and sickly minds, who have never felt the truths of the Bible, never read the Christian doctrine, never understood their own teachers, and are perishing in the tattered rags of their vain opinions. God grant to them and to us a right understanding!" TERZEL replied, and LUTHER rejoined, and thus commenced the Reformation in Germany.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH
Sunday Evening's Dispatches.

Additional Foreign News by the Nova Scotia.
FARTHER POINT, October 30.
The India and China mails from Calcutta, September 9, Hong Kong, August 21, had reached England. The news is mainly anticipated by telegraph, but the letters give additional details.

Mr. Ward, the American Minister, was courteously received at Peking. The news of his arrival at Peking was brought to Shanghai by a Russian gun-boat, but no letters were received from them. It was reported that he would be at Shanghai about the end of August, and that he expected to be able to send home the ratified treaty by the following mail.

The Times's correspondent reports the reception of Mr. Ward as a most polite stroke of the pen. The British Cabinet, but it does not at all relieve the treachery to the British Minister. The friend of China says that as the American treaty gives the United States liberty to tender their good offices in any difficulty with the western powers, Mr. Ward will soon have an opportunity of testing the virtues of this clause.

General Mouravieff, Governor of the Russian territory on the river Amoor, had arrived at the Peking, and special messengers were sent to Peking to acquaint the Russian Minister.

The Russians apparently had a perfect understanding with the Chinese. Order was re-established at Shanghai. Three officers who lost their vessels at the Peking had been tried by court-martial and acquitted. The negotiations of the French in China had made so much progress that the French admiral had a reinforcement of troops and gun-boats to Canton.

Advices from Japan state that the British Consul had made no progress in respect to the currency question; trade consequently was in abeyance.

The American ship-of-war Germantown was at Japan. The steamer Missionary was at Shanghai, and the Poshattan and Torgman at the Gulf of Pechili.

The authorities at Peking are represented as ready to receive the British Minister on friendly terms. Meanwhile the Indian Government had been applied to for fifteen thousand troops for China, and two regiments were under orders to depart.

The London Times states that the terms of the Zurich treaty are almost identical with those agreed to at Villa Franca, and that peace is one of the questions which disquiet Italy, and Europe seems excited.

The Morning Post says that, assuming its information to be correct, the further proposal concerning the questions left open, which it is intended to submit to the approval of the Congress, are of such a nature, that the diplomatists of Zurich have only heaped up materials of fresh difficulties. England can and will take no part in any Congress of which the first principle is the recognition of the rights of the Romanians and Rumanians. No less than the Modenese and Parmesan States to self-government, the first cannon that fired to force on the people of Romagna, Modena and Tuscany, any other rulers than the Italian Prince, in whom they so friendly put their trust, will be the signal of a conflict as deadly as the one just brought to a close.

A letter from Florence details the grounds on which the Emperor of the American Consul, at Leghorn, Mr. Joseph Binda, was withdrawn. It is asserted that he busied himself greatly for the restoration of the dethroned Princes, of whom he was a warm partisan. Binda is charged with having recommended certain Republicans to proclaim a Republic, while at the same time he was exerting his efforts for the Princes; the inference is that he sought to raise a pretext for armed intervention.

More About the Harper's Ferry Difficulty.
CARLETON, October 29.
The prisoner in the jail at Carleton, for whom a requisition was made by the Governor of Virginia, as Albert Hazlett, had a hearing before the Judge to-day, upon a writ of habeas corpus. Messrs. Miller, Sharp and Shearer appeared for the prisoner, and claimed his discharge on the ground that his name was not Albert Hazlett, but William Harrison. Several witnesses, resident at Harper's Ferry, testified positively that the prisoner at the bar was one of the persons who invaded Harper's Ferry; that they had covered with him there, and that they recognized him now. One of the witnesses, Mr. Copeland, said that he had seen the flash of his (the prisoner's) rifle when in the act of shooting at a citizen. None of the witnesses knew the name of the man, nor had they ever seen him before his appearance in the streets of Harper's Ferry.

P. Watts, Esq., appeared as counsel for the prisoner, and asked his Honor to recognize the prisoner to await the requisition of the Governor of Virginia by the name he had assumed. The Court took this ground and said: "We are already of the opinion that the requisition presented to us is legally and formally right, but there is no evidence that we have any man in our custody named Albert Hazlett, when we can deliver on the requisition, but we are satisfied a monstrous crime has been committed; that the prisoner, there and participated in it, is clearly testified to by three witnesses, and we will, therefore, recommit him to await the requisition of the Governor of Virginia."

From Washington.
WASHINGTON, October 30.
Intelligent gentlemen, who have just arrived here from the Pacific coast, say that people there will be surprised at the visit of Lieut. Gen. Scott to San Juan. In the Atlantic States, that island has been magnified to the importance of a continent, while it belongs to the United States and will be retained. They add that it is not worth quarreling about. Its value has been surprisingly overestimated. It is certain the tone of British Ministry on this subject is not agreeable to our government, but an explicit declaration that Gen. Harney was not instructed to occupy the island, and a calm and dignified explanation of all the attendant circumstances will, it is thought, produce a better state of feelings on the part of our transatlantic neighbors.

Magruder left Washington this afternoon for Charleston to join his law partner, Children. These gentlemen have been retained by certain parties in Boston as associates and counsel for Brown. They are both Virginians by birth, and pro-slavery men if not slave-holders, but their reputation here is such as to leave no doubt they will faithfully and ably perform their duty. It is said an unsuccessful effort was previously made to engage Montgomery Blair.

DEPARTURE OF THE REMAINS OF THE LATE HON. JOHN Y. MASON.—The remains of the Hon. John Y. Mason, late United States Minister to France, were removed yesterday afternoon to the steamer Yorktown, by which they will be conveyed to Richmond, where the friends and relatives of the deceased will receive them. The intention was to have the body escorted to the ship by some of the military companies of this city, but the short period intervening between their arrival and the departure of the Yorktown did not give time to perfect the arrangements for that or any other demonstration of respect.—N. Y. Times, Friday.

MORPHY AT THE NEW YORK CHESS CLUB.
Paul Morphy appeared at the New York Chess-club, in the University, last Thursday evening, for the last time prior to his departure for the Crescent City. The members of the club and their friends gathered in great numbers to see him. It was at first proposed that he should play a consultation game against five of the best players of the club; but it was afterwards concluded not to do so, and Mr. Morphy spent the evening quietly in conversation with his friends.

The Paris correspondence of the Independent states that while the Crimean war cost France 1,700,000,000 francs, the Italian war has cost no more than 300,000,000 francs.

Incendiarism at Marietta.
The attempt to fire the Postoffice block, on last Saturday morning, was successfully repelled at about the same hour on Tuesday morning. At about five o'clock the alarm was given, and flames were discovered ascending from the postoffice and the large frame building adjoining, owned by Mrs. Siebert. People immediately hastened to the spot from all quarters. As there was no hope of saving the two buildings, every effort was made to rescue what property was accessible. The postoffice was speedily, safely and carefully cleared of its contents—without the loss of a letter or a paper. The cigar-store of Mr. Klaber, and the bakery of Mr. Grabe, were also cared for, and most of their contents saved. The printing office of the Marietta Democrat, over the postoffice, was totally destroyed, as were also the household effects of Mrs. Siebert, who occupied the second-story of her building as a residence.

The fire is universally believed to have been the work of incendiary; and public opinion as to the person of the incendiary is such as to make it a matter of the greatest importance to the community. No attempt was made to pursue and arrest him.—Marietta Home News, October 29.

A FULL MILE.—The Detroit Advertiser alludes to an opinion prevalent that the track at Kalamazoo, over which "Flora Temple" trotted in 2:19 1/2, is short of a mile, and says: For the benefit of such of these, we would state that the track is one of the best bedded of any in the country, was in an excellent condition, and is a fraction over a mile, four feet, from the pole or inner edge.

One of the boys of the English ship-of-war, Lepanto, cut his throat a few weeks since, to avoid a sentence of four dozen over the back with a cane whipped with waxed ends. The poor boy's back was black and blue from his former lashings. There was another boy to be flogged a second time, but the doctor said he could not stand.

DEATH OF A HOTEL PROPRIETOR.—Leonard Scollay, for a long time a resident of St. Louis, and one of the proprietors of the "Claret House," died at Barnum's Hotel, in Baltimore, last Friday. For many months Mr. Scollay's health had been very bad, and his visit to Baltimore was for the purpose of his restoration.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Last Friday evening a fatal accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, near the "spot" in Pittsburgh, resulting in the death of a young man supposed to be Alexander Wilson, a driver in the employ of Mr. John Aiken, butcher.

THE ART OF ELOCUTION,
Exemplified in a Systematic Course of Exercises.

—BY—
H. N. DAY, A. M.,
AUTHOR OF "ELEMENTS OF THE ART OF ELOCUTION," formerly Professor of Rhetoric in "Western Reserve College," now President of "Ohio Female College."

The peculiarities of this work are, that it proposes to explain the principles of the art of reading and speaking in a strictly systematic order, in connection with copious exercises for the exemplification of each principle by itself.
Its leading object is to give an intelligent and practical command over all the functions of the voice, the same time developing its power and enabling it at will to express, by appropriate use of its various functions, the thoughts and feelings that appear in discourse, accurately, gracefully and effectively. It effects this by exhibiting one after another the different changes of the voice, in pitch, force, quality, in strict accordance with the work, explaining its nature and its peculiar effect in delivery, and accompanying this exhibition by examples for exercise. It aims to be a true art-science applied to practice.

It is preceded by a practical treatise on Orthography or Pronunciation, embracing Articulation, or the doctrine of the elemental sounds of Speech, Syllabication and Accentuation. The exercises in this part are copious, and are arranged with a view to the development of power, volume and mellowness of voice, as well as to a graceful, correct and distinct pronunciation.

The author gratefully acknowledges his indebtedness to Professor Goodrich and Dr. North, of Yale College, for valuable hints and suggestions in the preparation and revision of the work.
The work is the fruit of mature experience in teaching, and of long and earnest study.
